

Edu Birdie

Personal Rank 6

articles 30 comments 0 ratings 0 read 0% time 00:03:58

Time

There is no surplus or shortage of time-it must only be appreciated, and one must be able to use its flow, like the flow of rivers through which one navigates in ships and uses the power of water in mills. It should also be done properly, so as not to row against the current. Even the smallest streams sharpen the rocks, and seconds can add up to years of useful deeds and successes.