

Sarah Reyes

Personal Rank 3

articles 1 comments 1 ratings 0 read 0% time 00:00:26

Beautiful Things My Husband Do Every Morning

To me marriage is like a bed of roses filled with happy moments and great experiences which can't be trade for silver or gold. I met the love of my life, Desmond on a sunny Sunday morning while I was coming from amusement park, I was somehow exhausted and aggressive, I was looking forward to get home in no time so as to get a cold shower and rest for Monday work.

On getting to my car park I saw a tall, dark and huge guy staring at me, Desmond look is enough to make any lady want to stare but I couldn't stare more than twice cause of the stress I had on.

As I was about to move my car, someone notify me that I had a deflating Tyre, I was mad because I was going through a lot of stress already, as I was about moving out to probably get means to fix my Tyre then I saw the same handsome guy staring and moving closer to me, I was perplexed, I couldn't talk nor move, before I know it he is right in front of me and he immediately said can I be of help and I answered of course, he immediately went to his car which he parked opposite mine and brought out the things he needed to fix the Tyre, I watch him fix the Tyre and my heart was beating very fast. I couldn't understand this feeling but I knew it was something beyond the ordinary.

Immediately he finishes fixing up my deflating Tyre, I went closer to him to say thank you and of course he said Not to mention and in a cool and collected voice he asks if he could get my digit so we can probably meet again, I was beyond happy to give it out and that's how we started talking on phone and soon we met for dinner. I later get to know that Desmond is not only cute but he has a loving and good heart. Our relationship moves from cordial friendship to something greater called Love.

We were together most times and we often attend to each other needs like we are one. I remember quite well, it was on September 2016 a day after my birthday, Desmond invited me to a dinner not knowing he was actually planning to propose and getting there I saw a nice atmosphere filled with romance, immediately my instinct told me something great is going to happen, before I sit I saw Desmond on his knees with a shining diamond ring, I was extremely happy and couldn't contain my joy, immediately he ask if I was going to marry him I said a big Yes.

I was happy I ran home to share the news with my family and before I could realize we are happily married. My marriage with Desmond has been my biggest joy and my morning are always beautiful knowing that Desmond is part of my life. Below are few things Desmond does every morning that makes my day bright.